Board Of Trade Discusses Possible Program Over CJCA

LAC LA BICHE—Bob Simmermon of radio station CJCA attended the last meeting of the Lac la Biche Board of Trade. About 12 merchants were represented at the meeting. Mr. Simmermon also stated some of the preliminary arrangements that must be made in order that the program may proceed. Whether the idea will go through will depend largely on the co-operation of the other merchants. Further plans will be discussed in May.

No One Hurt When Train Is Derailed

HYLO—Excitement came early to the residents of Hylo on Friday, April 2. The reason was the derailment of a west bound train, caused by a cracked rail. The engine passed over this rail but the oil tank tore a seven foot piece of rail out and threw all the cars off the tracks. Two box cars were slightly damaged as was the oil tank. No one was injured and the tracks were repaired the same day.

Longest Debate Current Session Provides 6-Wk. Teacher Training

EDMONTON (BUP)—Debate on the Social Credit Government's emergency teacher training legislation ended this week as the bill received second reading.

Discussion of the bill took up the major part of four sittings and lasted nearly 30 hours.

The highlight of the debate came when a Social Credit member joined opposition criticism to the government proposals to alleviate the teacher shortage.

Lee Leavitt (SC Banff-Cochrane), a teacher, said the proposal to let "student teachers" take charge of classrooms after six week training would postpone, if not retard, the solution of the real problem.

Nearly all opposition members opposed the bill while four cabinet ministers and several government back-benchers spoke in favor of the short course.

Opposition Leader J. Harper Prowse challenged the government to guarantee the plan would not place qualified teachers on the "labor market" in competition with the six-week course graduates. He said the bill does nothing to guarantee that graduates of the six-week course will be sent only to schools which cannot obtain qualified teachers.

He said there would be no objection if Education Minister A. O. Aalborg would state that short course graduates would not replace qualified teachers.

Aalborg said there would be 150 to 200 classrooms without teachers this fall if the bill does not pass. He promised that the government would consider a suggestion from W. J. C. Kirby (PC Red Deer) that the government retain teachers who have passed retiring age. He said this would have to be discussed with the teachers' retirement fund board.

Aalborg also said that the government never has claimed that the sixweek course would be considered the complete training of a teacher.

The legislation, outlined in bill 101 of the session, has sparked more debate than any other piece of legislature before the house at the present session.

Another bill that sparked considerable debate last week was legislation to incorporate a gas pipeline company to collect and distribute natural gas throughout Alberta and to feed the inter-provincial gas line which will carry Alberta gas to eastern markets.

The bill received second reading—approval in principal—after criticism from two of the three opposition parties. The Liberals wanted the bill to be referred back to committee to hear representations from various interested organizations. The Progressive Conservatives opposed the Liberal suggestion because they said it was a "further attempt to delay the export of natural gas." CCF leader opposed the bill because he said the distribution and collection of natural gas should be handled by a crown corporation.

A.T.C. Sets Date For Lac la Biche Track Meet

LAC LA BICHE—Teachers from Lac la Biche, Plamondon and Grassland gathered in the Dr. Swift School for an interesting meeting. Discussion of the annual track meet took up most of the time, as ways and means of improving the track meet were discussed. Due to the condition of the roads only three members of the track meet committee were present. Mr. J. Strembitsky was elected president of the committee. It was decided to hold the track meet on the 21st of May with the 28th as an alternate date.

Other items of business discussed at the meeting were the sending of resolutions to the AGM in Calgary and a choice of a delegate to attend the ATA Banff Workshop in August. N. A. Chodan and E. Makowichuk were chosen to attend.

Coffee and lunch served by the lady teachers concluded the pleasant afternoon.

Variety Show Said To Be Excellent

A most successful variety show took place at the Grassland Community Hall on Friday. From the opening "O Canada" to the final "God Save The Queen" the program was full of excellent numbers.

One of the most appreciated acts was the boxing match for the "Worlds Championship," in which after both boxers had knocked themselves out, the referee proudly proclaimed himself champion.

"A Typical School Party" proved popular with the audience and there were many songs and dances of first rate quality.

The whole program proved superior to the average travelling shows which from time to time come to the district.

Two New Bridges To Be Built Soon

FREEDOM—Along with the good news that a bridge is to be built at Holmes Crossing, came the announcement that a new bridge will be built this summer at Rossington. The new bridge would be a multi-lane structure, capable of handling traffic on the recently improved Westlock-Barrhead highway. The present bridge has been a matter of concern for some time, its single lane traffic being a decided hazard to highway travel. Type of bridge has not been learned but it is thought likely that it will be of an open deck style similar to that planned at Holmes Crossing.

North West Free Choice Growing Supplement Crumbles and Whole Grain Is All You Need

NO GRINDING, NO MIXING, NO HAULING — The Birds Will Balance Their Own Feed

The Dominion Experimental Farms reporting in (Magazine Milling and Feed, March, 1954) have this to say in part: In the prairie regions the farmer with ample supplies of good quality grains requires only a protein-mineral vitamin supplement.

Cost of grinding grain, and the labor required to mix the concentrate and ground grains adds considerably to the cost and labor of raising turkeys.

At time of marketing, the results of the grading showed there was a tendency for the birds fed free choice concentrate to grade somewhat better than those fed growing mash.

The tendency seemed to be for the free choice birds to mature somewhat earlier. In no case was the average finish raised by one commercial grade but the general finish was concluded to be somewhat better.

The Wheat Situation

The world wheat trade has changed from a sellers' to a buyers' market but there is every reason to believe that Canada will be the largest wheat exporting nation this crop year as Great Britain will buy most of her wheat requirements from this country. That statement was made by W. C. McNamara, assistant chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board in an address at the Calgary agricultural short course. He stated that competition in wheat selling is keen but so long as Canadian wheat maintains its quality it will have a sales advantage over the wheat of any other exporting country in the world.

Mr. McNamara stated that with an easing of the world situation importing countries are using up reserves of wheat which had been stored up in case of trouble and many countries had big crops last year. Turkey and Sweden, former wheat importing nations, are now exporters, and France was in a like position. Italy, which usually required a million tons of wheat a year, is almost self-sufficient. India, which has been needing from two to three million tons a year, will not be a large importer.

Turning to the Canadian situation the speaker said the Wheat Board has a sales program designed to obtain "our share of the world's markets." Exports of wheat, oats and barley this crop year have reached 250 million bushels compared to 300 million last year. Farmers have marketed 390 million bushels of grain since August 1 last which is about 100 million bushels less than was marketed in the same period the previous year. There is still about 500 million bushels of grain on western farms.

The speaker said that while price levels are important they are not altogether the answer and it is doubtful if cheaper wheat would result in the sale of more of that commodity. Furthermore, the governments of importing nations in which domestic wheat producers are protected by a bonus price, would likely have to increase the general level of the bombs as wheat prices dropped.

Mr. McNamara said that Alberta grain producers are somewhat better off with regard to deliveries than were the farmers of Saskatchewan because of freer movement of wheat through Vancouver. Alberta deliveries of all grains since August 1 totalled 120 million bushels or 45 per cent of the estimated total for the year. The Saskatchewan deliveries were 211 million or 40 per cent of the potential. On a per acre basis deliveries have been:

Manitoba	856 bushels
Saskatchewan	832 "
Alberta	838 "

The cut of 7 cents in the price of wheat on the Fort William price was made to balance exports and make eastern prices more in line with Pacific wheat. He said, however, that wheat on the Pacific was still cheaper even with the 7 cents cut.

Large Trade Essential

Canada is the third largest exporting nation in the world, a remarkable position to be held by a nation with so small a population—15 million people.

Any serious drop in exports is certain to bring economic trouble to this Dominion.

Exports are bound to drop if Canada takes measures calculated to restrict the import of goods and services from other nations.

Canadian shipping interests appear to be determined to prevent outside competition on the Great Lakes. When the St. Lawrence deep seaway is completed the increase in depth of navigation will permit outside shipping to enter the Great Lakes. Canadian shipping interests are engaged in a campaign with the objective of having the federal government pass legislation which will prevent ships from other nations competing on the Great Lakes waterway.

Farm people in western Canada should unite in a strong effort to prevent the Canadian shipping combine from achieving its objective.

No Armistice In Sight

Signing of an armistice last July ending hostilities in Korea was an occasion for rejoicing throughout the country.

During three years of warfare with Communist armies, American and Canadian forces had lost more than 25,000 men killed in action on a foreign battle field.

Today we are still engaged in a grim fight on the home front with an enemy more deadly than all of the armies which the Communists put in the field in Korea. And on this battle front there is no armistice in sight. This current conflict is taking a yearly toll of lives nine times greater than those suffered by our armed forces during three years of war in Korea.

The foe responsible for this daily threat to the lives of Canadians is cancer.

During 1953, a total of 18,000 persons in Canada died from the dread disease, which, it is estimated, will strike at one out of every five Canadians at some time in their lives.

The nationwide campaign to conquer this country's second most deadly killer is being spearheaded by the Canadian Cancer Society with a comprehensive, three-fold program of public and professional education, service to patients and scientific research into the causes and most effective methods of curing or arresting the disease.

Everyone cannot engage directly in the campaign being fought by scientists, family doctors, nurses and hundreds of thousands of volunteer workers to eradicate cancer. But we all can join indirectly in the struggle by contributing generously to the cause through our local Canadian Cancer Society unit.

When a volunteer calls for your donation do not miss this chance to strike back at cancer—man's cruellest enemy.

Capital Punishment

In Parliament a committee has been sitting to consider the question of abolishing Capital Punishment in Canada. In the debate on the motion to set up the committee many divergent views were expressed and statistics were quoted which seemed to prove both sides of the question. It is quite clear that the members who spoke—and, in fact, all the members have the very best intentions. Some argued that Capital Punishment was a survival of the savagery and barbarism of bygone days and others argued that it was still necessary as a deterrent of crime.

The Jury system was upheld and it was felt that juries seldom made serious mistakes in deciding on the guilt or innocence of the accused. That is their duty and the Judge imposes the sentence. Social thinking changes as the world advances and it was stated that 100 years ago a Jury would bring a verdict of "guilty" even if there were extenuating circumstances and, in the same case today, a Jury would not bring in such a verdict if the members thought the accused should not lose his life.

Quite a number of countries, e.g., Sweden, Portugal, Switzerland, Italy and many South American Countries have abolished Capital Punishment. New Zealand abolished it in 1941 and have recently re-introduced it. The United Kingdom suspended the death sentence for a time but, when the trial period had expired, the death sentence was mandatory following a verdict of "guilty of murder." Forty-two of the forty-eight States of the Union retain the death penalty.

In the 10-year period from 1940 to 1949 in the United Kingdom there were 1666 murders known to the police. These resulted in 815 arrests for murder. Of the 815 arrested, 680 were committed for trial. In the 680 trials, the Jury brought in a verdict of "guilty" in 262 cases and, out of the 262 cases, there were 127 executions.

In the same period in Canada, there were 479 murder charges laid. These 479 charges resulted in 104 executions.

Such problems, although very undesirable and unpleasant, must be faced by Parliament and the Committee will hear evidence and get the experience of other countries or which to base their report.

Note and Comment

In England and Wales severe frosts and snow have made the ground unfit to work and very little sowing or cultivating has been done. Most crops suffered some frost damage, but many areas report these crops to be showing signs of recovery.

BAD AS THE DRINK HABIT

What's going on here? Someone has been keeping things from me! But I've discovered this fascinating sport called curling at last.

Maybe others have the same idea about curling that I used to have. I thought hockey was a rough-and-tumble game, full of excitement and thrills for the young, and that curling was a tame and gentle form of exercise for elderly gents addicted to slow motion.

But I happened to have the radio tuned in recently while some fellow broadcast about the curling.

The first thing I heard was that these fellows were playing a briar.

Of course, that must be some sort of wood-wind. I had never heard a briar played, so I stayed tuned. Didn't get any music, though, because some sort of ruckus started. Somebody was in the house and somebody else wanted in and I guess he wasn't welcome. Too drunk, maybe. Anyway, he kept demanding more ice. Didn't like warm drinks, I guess. Probably a Yank.

However, he was plumb determined to get in the house. The announcer said he was trying to knock someone out and finally did it at three o'clock with a double bump. Hoo, Boy! Drunk and disorderly!

But those Edmonton boys had got their dander up by this time, and they started after the feller with a heavy rock. I expect maybe they'd have fixed his wagon good, too. Somebody did give him the broom, one of the ladies, I suppose, but he knew when he was outnumbered and got in a hack and skipped.

I was kind of sorry that party broke up. It sounded good. But other things were doing. Must have been an Irishwoman's house, because the pig was trying to get in. Some Scotchman named Campbell got a rock and went after the hog somewhere between the hog's line of advance and the house. Guess the hog got in the house, though. This Campbell only had a light rock and soon one of the ladies had to sweep hard in the house.

I still didn't hear anything about the curling game. The announcer being kept busy with the ruckus. But the people who go to curl can't be so very old. Some gang, I'd say.

ELEVATOR SPACE GOING TO WASTE

Concerning a recent article written by Mr. Pie I would like to comment on this business of having unused space at country elevators.

Knowing that there is empty space at Onoway in the Pool Elevator there alone for 75,000 bushels of grain I wrote to the Canadian Wheat Board asking for permission to haul some of my grain to Onoway.

The reply was that the Wheat Board finds it "rather odd" that I should want to haul grain to Onoway.

Now I ask, what is "odd" about a farmer wanting to deliver grain to an elevator that is "practically empty"? Why doesn't the Wheat Board let those farmers who can haul grain to elevators wherever they are if they have space for more grain?

Letter to Louisa

Escort Insists On Secret Rendezvous In Parked Auto At Every Dance

Dear Louisa:

I am a young girl that first started to go to dances. To every dance I go, the same boy asks me for lunch. He always wants me to have the lunch in the car with him. He likes me and I like him. But I sure hate the habit of lunching in cars, and also my parents dislike the bad habit.

I don't want to make him any feelings of hating me or change his mind by letting him know I do not want to lunch in any cars, and that also my parents dislike it.

Could you give any advice, so I can tell him, the best for him and also myself for the next dance.

YOUNG GIRL.

Answer:

The last thing you should worry about is that this young man's feeling might be hurt if you tell him that when you go to a dance you want to dance and mix with other young people and not sit alone with him in a parked car. Because chances are his feelings won't be hurt at all and if they are—he's a poor type of man for you to be giving your exclusive attention to.

Anyway, you are far too young to be making one boy friend your sole heart interest. Get around and meet other young people. But in the meantime tell your current heart throb that you won't attend any more dances with him if he expects you to sit in the car with him.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

How often should a girl expect her boyfriend to show up on Sundays?

I am eighteen and have been going steady with a respectable young man of twenty-two who comes from a different town, in which my parents approve. Certain people keep asking me if he came last Sunday and keep criticizing that he should show up more often on Sundays. We have been going steady for the past five months in which we date two to three times during the week and once a month on Sundays.

Don't you think this is enough or are they right?

Connie.

Answer:

Not knowing you or your boyfriend I can't really tell you if a date with your young man on Sundays only once a month is enough or not. It seems to me that if he can make two or three trips during the work week he should be able to see you nearly every Sunday, without fail.

At your age you should not depend just on the one man to make that waited-for call. If I were you I'd naturally be wondering what he's doing on Sundays and if he doesn't care enough to do it with me I'd seek other week-end companionship with other young folks—men and women.

Whatever you do get around and meet more young men before you settle on any as your "one and only."

Gas Well Fire Battle Is Won After 115,500,000 Cubic Feet Lost

LEGAL, Alta. (BUP)—Fire at an Imperial Oil gas well, 33 miles north of Edmonton, has been extinguished after it consumed an estimated 115,500,000 cubic feet of gas—enough to heat an eight-room house for about 500 years.

The raging fire which threw flames 150 to 200 feet in the air, began showing signs of defeat Sunday afternoon, and at 3:00 p.m. Monday the company's battle against the flames was over.

The Fairydell No. 1-17 well blew wild at 2:30 a.m. March 19, when the drilling bit unexpectedly hit a large cavity at the 4,000-foot level. Much of the "mud" used to seal off the gas zone at the 2,700 foot level fell into the cavity, permitting gas to flow to the surface.

Officials said the escaping gas could have been ignited by a spark from the drilling machinery or from a stone carried by the gas stream. The drilling crew had time to scramble to safety before the explosion occurred. No one was injured, but the blast was heard for a distance of 10 miles.

Imperial Oil officials decided against dynamiting at the base of the flames, because this method of putting out a gas well fire involves personal risk. Instead, they decided to drill a relief well 300 feet from the burning gasser.

The well, drilled under the direction of V. C. "Tip" Moronni, curved to reach the gasser at the 2700-foot mark early Saturday.

Water was then pumped down the cut-off well to choke off the supply of gas to the flames. But the stubborn fire continued to blaze as the underground pressure forced the mud to the surface. It came spouting out of the flames like a volcano. The water turned to steam as soon as it hit the giant blow-torch.

About 600-thousand gallons of water were pumped down the relief well before the flames were quelled.

Although the fire was out, crews continued pumping water into both wells to make sure the fire would not flare up again.

The flames could be heard three miles away, and their force made the ground tremble like a minor earthquake for hundreds of feet around the well. The heat of the flames caused a $250,000 drilling rig to topple into a crumpled mass of metal. At night low clouds often reflected the flames in a rich pink shade which could be seen as far away as Edmonton.

The well was being drilled for Imperial Oil by the Parker Drilling Company of Canada. It is located three miles northeast of Legal.

Dr. Vannevar Bush warns that a "short-sighted" disclosure of technical data on new weapons would endanger the nation's security.

The Lac la Biche Fire Department was called out to answer two fire alarms during the past week. Both calls were quickly responded to and no damage was sustained in with either case. Judging by the number of chimney fires occurring during the past winter it might be well for other residents to clean their chimneys rather than await action by the fire department. The chimney fire occurred at the home of Mrs. E. Tatum. The other call was answered when Mrs. D. Kosakewich put some hot ashes against the wall of the building occupied by the Lac la Biche Herald.

Besides fighting fires, the fire department took time out on Sunday to sponsor a movie at the Aurora Theatre.

Wrong Address

AKRON, O. (UP) — Sheriff's deputies and demolition experts answered a hurry call to nearby Chert recently where a box labeled "Nitro" had been found on the seat of an apparently abandoned automobile. Tests of the bottled liquid in the box showed it to be a weed killer. A re-check of the box's wrapper showed "Nitro" to be the address: Nitro, W. Va.

PINEAPPLE FLIP

(A Delicious Dessert)

Put 1 cup brown sugar and 1/4 cup butter into a frying pan. Melt, stirring constantly; remove from fire and cool slightly. Into this mixture place six pineapple rings and 1/2 cup of chopped walnuts; pour a plain cake batter over this and bake in the oven slightly longer than for plain cake. When nicely browned, cool and cut in six pieces, turn upside down and garnish with whipped cream and rolled walnuts.

PINEAPPLE DESSERT

1/2 box gelatine
1 large tin grated pineapple
1 cup orange and lemon juice (1/2 of each)

2 bananas
3 cups hot water.
Method: Dissolve gelatine in 3 cups boiling water; add juices, grated pineapple and sugar. Place in refrigerator until it begins to set, then add two bananas sliced. Return to fridge till set. Serve with whipped cream, flavored slightly with pineapple extract.

This "Pineapple Flip" favorite recipe was sent in by (Mrs. A. C.) Helen F. Majury, Vermilion, Alberta, who received a cheque for $1.00.

POPPY SEED CHIFFON CAKE

Soak half cup poppy seed in one cup of water for about two hours. In a bowl sift together:

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tsp. salt.

Form a well and add:
1/2 cup salad oil
Poppy seed with water
2 tsp. vanilla
7 unbeaten egg yolks
1/4 tsp. soda
Beat until smooth. In another bowl put:

7 egg whites
1/2 tsp. cream of tartar

Beat until very stiff peaks form. Pour yolk mixtures over whites gently folding in (don't stir). Pour into ungreased tube pan 4 inches deep. Bake for 50 minutes at 325 degrees F., then increase to 350 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. Turn pan upside down to cool.

Are You Made of the Right Stuff?

Our grandfathers worked from dawn to dusk and lived to a ripe age. Today many are worn out at 40 to 50; young folk are afflicted with troubles that in the past only affected the very aged.

Research has found the answer. "SOIL DEFICIENCY". We are not getting the right stuff from our modern diet. BIO-FORM food supplement supplies these needs.

Uncle CHARLEY'S Epigrams

The chap who has a hot time in mind needs cold cash in his pocket.

Kids make the family ties stronger, the days shorter, the nights longer, the bank account smaller, the clothes a bit shabbier, the home happier, life a little busier and the future worth while.

If some fellers brains was dynamite they couldn't blow their hat off.

Blessed is the feller who kin take the hard bumps and still keep on goin'.

The cat in the Ridge Corner store window at night get's more attention than the goods.

Nope, a feller don't have to be big time to keep tickin'.

Some times we think a chio is a goose to duck a date.

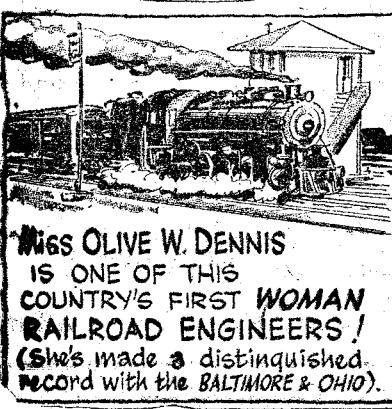

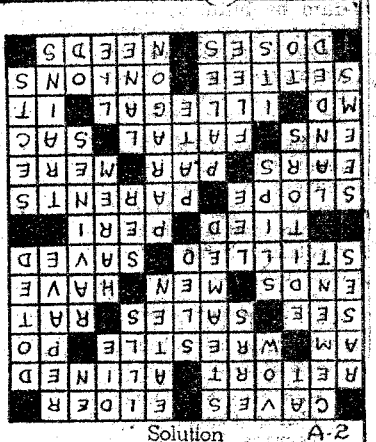

After all, this is a man - maid world.

Even with all our dollars it's hard to find good quarters.

Pipe Line Bill Passes Commons

OTTAWA (BUP).—The Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. has won approval in principle for financial plans to build a natural gas pipeline from Alberta to Eastern Canada. The Commons gave second reading to a bill concerning the pipe line firm. The Liberal member for Vegreville who sponsored the bill, John Decore, said the combined group was "dedicated to the building of the all-Canadian line first."

The company has denied that its merger with another western firm was dictated by political exigencies, rather than economics.

The denial was made in Ottawa by the company's vice-president, Fran Schutz. He appeared before the Commons' railway committee which is considering pipe line legislation.

Carl Nickle, the Progressive Conservative member for Calgary South, suggested the political deal. Schultz said he couldn't accept that theory.

The Trans-Canada official also said the company intended to build its line from Alberta to Ontario and Quebec without direct government help. It would expect certain tax concessions, but that was all.

Another company official, Ray Milner, said Trans-Canada hadn't asked for any government subsidy and none had been promised.

Milner says that Eastern Canada will be using cheap Alberta gas by the fall of 1956.

Milner told the Commons' railway committee last week that the billion-dollar project of piping western natural gas thousands of miles eastward will be the biggest job of its kind attempted anywhere.

Two New Bridges To Be Constructed

Bridges to cross the Athabasca river at Fort Assiniboine and the Pembina River at Rossington are slated for construction this year, it was announced by Hon. R. D. Jorgenson, minister of public welfare and member for Pembina. It is expected that work would start in the fall.

Mr. Jorgenson, with the Hon. Gordon Taylor, minister of highways, announced this at a meeting in Fort Saskatchewan.

While a steel bridge was considered for the Athabasca crossing it was thought more likely that an open deck type of structure would be erected due to steel difficulties. Cost of the bridge is estimated at $150,000 to $300,000.

Mr. Jorgenson indicated the new bridge at Rossington will be a multi-lane structure capable of handling traffic on the recently improved Westlock-Barrhead highway.

Elevator Official Forecasts Lean Year

TORONTO (BUP).—A grain elevator official has forecast a lean year for Ontario grain elevators as a result of increased competition from newly-built or converted grain ships.

Norman Boadway, general manager of Collingwood Grain Elevators said that the addition of 14 more ships to the Great Lakes grain fleet will create sharp competition between the ships and railways. He said that will result in a rate drop, making water shipment cheaper than by rail.

Boadway says that 14 more grain freighters are expected to go into service on the Great Lakes as soon as navigation opens, and these will enable ships to handle all the available tonnage of western grain coming from the head of the lakes down to eastern Ontario mills.

He said that elevators make their money unloading and loading the grain from ships to trains, and if ships take all the available tonnage of western grain all the way to the mills, the elevators will be left with very lean pickings.

Army Vice Chief of Staff Bolte announced that atomic cannon in sizeable numbers were being shipped to United States forces in Europe and that eventually guided missiles, also, would be sent.

High School Production Highly Commended

ATHABASCA — April 1 was the culmination of weeks of effort when the Athabasca High School put on its annual production. Under the direction of the high school staff and Mrs. J. Appleby a well balanced program was presented.

The program opened with a quartette and chorus singing "The Old Rugged Cross." Then followed an Easter drama, "The Seamless Robe" directed by Mrs. N. La Branche with hymns by the chorus and a solo by Marian Hardman "She Touched the Hem of His Garment."

Miss Elfriede Schinkinger, president of the Students' Council gave a short address of welcome. After the intermission came a humorous play directed by Mrs. Cunningham, "Greener Grass."

The next part of the program featured songs, solos and dances with a spring theme. The soloists were Allan Gerlach and Elmer Edwards. The dance numbers arranged by Mrs. Appleby included a tap number by Suzanne Godel, Cecile Ashacker and Michaelle Wright and a ballet number by six girls. Mr. Tymchuk directed the chorus.

The entire staff and student body is to be congratulated on a fine piece of work.

NOTICE TO LAKE PROPERTY OWNERS

A proposal has been made by residents of Lac la Biche that a dam be built in the outlet to the lake. It is considered that if the oxygen content of the lake can be improved by increasing the water volume of the lake there should be an increase in the fish population.

The proposal is that the lake level will be stabilized approximately two feet higher than the present level. Due to unforeseen circumstances there can be some fluctuation higher or lower than the optimum level.

Any lake property owners who feel that their interests will be adversely affected by this proposal should write to:

Ben Russell, Director,
Water Resources Office,
Terrace Building, EDMONTON.

Electrification Assoc. Has $19,000 Balance

BAPTISTE LAKE—The first annual meeting of the West Athabasca Rural Electrification Association was held in the Athabasca Community Centre the evening of March 29th, with a good turnout of members.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $97,270.33. The bulk of these came from the Provincial government loan of $81,610.00. Expenditures to date came to $77,934.18. The chief items were $50,000 paid to Northland Utilities for materials, $14,000 paid to the contractor, J. D. Loisel, $10,969.07 for the purchase of poles and materials, and $2,505.95 spent in clearing right-of-way. With a balance of $19,000 on hand, and most required materials either on hand or paid for, hope was held out that there would be a fair surplus at the conclusion of construction. If this turned out to be the case, such a surplus would go to reduce the indebtedness of each individual member.

President D. W. MacLeod reported that approximately 60 miles of line had been completed before winter conditions called a halt to operations. Some 20 miles remained to be finished this season.

During a discussion period, questions were answered by the president and other members of the board of directors. Mr. D. Peterson of Northland Utilities was present and also took part in the discussion.

Mr. D. A. Ross, of Lahaville was re-elected as a director. New directors chosen were Ed. James, of Grosmont and Bryce Minns of South Athabasca.

Atmore

An enjoyable evening of canasta was held at the home of Mrs. R. Matheson, 1844th St. N.E. Mrs. Lloyd Dabson held the high score while Mrs. Wm. Campbell went home with the booby prize.

Wm. Kostuk, who has been employed at the Atmore garage for the winter months returned to Wandering River. Bill drove his new Allis-Chalmers WD 45 tractor home.

Why Not?

DUNN, N.C. (UP) — Girl students at the local high school, obviously disgusted with the latest fad among male students, tacked this ultimatum on the bulletin board: Unless those yo-yos disappear we're going to bring out our baby dolls and jump ropes."
